December 1982

Prepared by the Federal Research Division of the Library of Congress under an interagency agreement

PREFACE

This monthly survey compiles articles on sub-Saharan Africa which appear in Pravda. It has been prepared since April 1980. Pravda is the official newspaper of the Central Committee of the Communist Party of the Soviet Union. Items published are presumably authoritative. Articles dealing with Soviet political, military, or economic interests in Africa are entirely translated or extensively excerpted or summarized. News accounts which heavily rely on news services of other countries are simply noted. All entries have been arranged chronologically under general African or country headings. FBIS translations are summarized or annotated for reader reference; duplication is avoided.

"Green Revolution" Underway

(Excerpt) Since the beginning of 1980 when a large campaign called the "green revolution" was begun to transform rural areas, the federal government of Nigeria has spent more than a billion naira on the necessary trees. The goal of the new work policy to plant trees has its roots in the sharp increase of the production of food products in Nigeria itself. The country has always provided its own food products and has even exported it in considerable quantities. The increasing lack of attention toward rural areas over the years, when the country has been receiving most receipts from oil exports, cannot help but adversely affect Nigeria. An important element of the "green revolution" will be the creation of large agricultural production complexes. (5 Nov 82, p. 4)
