Summary

During November, the principal activities for Boston Fusion were related to development of the technical section of the InfoCog final report. Summaries of these activities appear in the subsequent section.

Progress During Reporting Month

During the month of November, Boston Fusion conducted the following activities for PDS:

- Continued development of a narrative describing the potential benefits of the Info-Cognitive Proactive Decision Support (InfoCog) technology.
- Continued development of a notional technology roadmap that describes the required technology necessary for InfoCog to become viable.

Plans for Next Month

During the month of December, we plan to do the following activities for PDS:

- Complete development of a narrative describing the potential benefits of the Info-Cognitive Proactive Decision Support (InfoCog) technology.
- Complete development of a notional technology roadmap that describes the required technology necessary for InfoCog to become viable.
- Refine workshop objectives. Complete technology space characterization to identify the needs and requirements for decision support technology for PADS, and describe how PDS technologies cover subsets of that space.
- Complete literature survey to identify relevant research communities and researchers that are exploring decision making from the analytical/mathematical point of view, based on our refined understanding of research objectives and potential transition opportunities. Based on survey, refine list of potential workshop participants and relevant topics for workshop sessions.
- Identify location and secure date for workshop, preferably in the DC area.
- Draft workshop invitation for review.
