In 1929, MSG Morris Swett (in who's memory the USAFAS library has been named since 1968) devised this library classification schedule. His intention was to develop a plan that was broader than the Dewey Decimal and more complete than the Library of Congress classifications. Five subsequent library catalogers have developed the product to what it has become today. Although the subject of artillery is emphasized, it may have application for other military libraries. As such it is designed to support the Third Edition of the Library of Congress "U" schedule; not to supplant it.

FOREWORD

This "U" military science classification system was developed by MSG Morris Swett during the period, 1915-41, when he was principal cataloger. He desired to have a practical schedule which was more detailed than the Dewey Decimal Classification (DDC) System and more pragmatic than the Library of Congress (LC) classification. It is a moot point whether the DDC, LC, UDC, Bliss, Colon, etc., would be so today. The important thing is, he devised a scheme which had applicability for this specialized library. MSG Swett was librarian at the U. S. Army Field Artillery School throughout most of the period from 1915 until he retired in 1954. Due to many singular activities on behalf of Fort Sill, the library was renamed in his memory during 1968.

He introduced a subject index to cover artillery areas in-depth, and also phased-over the military science portion of the collection. He switched the entire holdings from DDC between 1927 and 1929. Four military members comprised the staff at the time. The total holding numbered 34,238 volumes when he was finished. The transition to LC involved A-TX, V, Z, only. The U-UZ was his own invention. (LC still has not developed after U-UH.)

While this cataloging tool is a lasting tribute, it has obviously been revised and updated by the school-trained library cataloging professionals which have followed. By surname the group of ladies are in order of period of service: Hackett, Kerns, Hall, Wilson, and Relph.

The system is still in use here because it fills local needs. It has stood the test of time very well. As with life, this may not be everyone's "cup of tea," but it has worked in this case. The schedule which follows amounts to a working draft as development continues. Inclusion of an item, or omission, does not imply USAFAS indorsement or sanction of the compiler's point-of-view nor does it guarantee accuracy of content. Comment and criticism concerning this list is solicited.

Finally, this schedule borrows elements of the LC system, including use of tables, etc. It is not intended to replace LC, but to support it for highly specialized military library collections. Special thanks are extended to the USAFAS Word Processing Center for their kind coopération.

LESTER L. MILLER, JR.
Supervisory Librarian

Remark made in "Annual Report of the Librarian," May 31, 1929:

"Reclassification. Reclassification under the Library of Congress schemes is completed."

INTRODUCTION

The MSL Classification System is primarily an adoption of the LC "U" classification, which specializes in field artillery. Due to local necessity, at the time, this expansion was accomplished prior to LC; and therefore, numerical positions may overlap and differ from their more philosophical approach of LC, now in its Third Edition.

Problems which plague any system (i.e., anytime one has more than one title) is that many subjects can logically be placed under various classifications. Also, scattering of fields sets-in the first time the cataloger forgets to annotate the "Subject Headings Authority," and separate subjects index.

At the close of this section are examples of cataloging decisions made by the undersigned on the basis of present, felt need, or experience. In some cases, the "U" schedule was not used due to the need to proceed with prior development.

Some areas have fallen into disuse. The UL300's have supplanted the UF160's. Drill manuals are no longer separated from technical information on a given gun. This is now done within the UL303 section, for guns and howitzers. The call number of 75mm guns, if written by Dickinson, would be: UL303 A4 (75mm) D6. It should be noted, also, that the library now uses LC author numbers (1-9) instead of the more involved Cutter tables, although more thorough, for other than open entries.

This cataloger finds the MSL "U" system a good one where expansions are required what with growth in technology, weapon systems, and concepts. Examples of representative cataloging decisions are illustrated as follows:

Subject	Number
Aeroplanes, Fighting	UH's
- Other Aeroplanes	TL's
Atomic Weapons - History	UL409.16
- Non-Military Atomic Energy - History	QC773
Bibliography	Z's
Bibliography - use subject under which person is associated
House Buying - Buyer's guides, construction methods	TH4817.5
House Buying - Real estate as business	HD1375

U MILITARY SCIENCE (GENERAL) U1-900

Deviations from LC:

U159 Strategy with U162 developed into size and type of unit.
 U166 Tactics and Combat. (LC has "Study and Teaching").
 U220 Reconnaissance. Scouting. Patrols. Same as LC, but is broken down into various aspects of that subject.
 U380 Military Research. (LC is U390).
 U386 Safety Education and Measures in Armies. (LC is U380-385).
 U390 Study and Teaching. Military Training. (LC has "Military Research").
 U412 - U426 Military Education and Training. MSL follows the LC in its U410 example and works out a schedule for other schools.
 U427 For military post schools.
 U432 For Inter-American Defense College.
 From U432 through U900 MSL follows LC.

UA ARMIES ORGANIZATION. DISTRIBUTION UA10-997

UA27-U40 In this area are listed numbers for all types of military unit histories. LC uses this area for the same purpose, but MSL expands. LC makes provision for unit histories by war period also.
 UA42-UA549 Same as LC.
 UA560-UA575 United States Militia, Volunteers, and Reserves Officers' Reserve Corps.
 UA570 For the Women's Army Corps (LC is UA565).
 UA575 On to UB's MSL follows LC.

UB MILITARY ADMINISTRATION UB1-900

UB1 - UB900 This section differs from LC in only 3 areas:

UB500 A1 Directory of legal assistance officers
UB823 U. S. Military Police Boards
UB846 Military judges

UC MAINTENANCE AND TRANSPORTATION UC10-780

UC370-376 Study and teaching of maintenance and transportation.
UC470-UC475.3 Testing of Equipment
UC476 Ground Navigation Equipment

UD INFANTRY UD1-580

Same as LC until UD500

UD500 ARMOR - includes Tactics and Tanks.
UD570 Tanks (LC uses UG446.5).

UE CAVALRY UE1-500
(Replaces LC's CAVALRY. ARMOR)

This is influenced by LC's schedule, 1952, 3d edition. The UE147-UE149 is seldom used for armor, except in reference to cavalry in history.

UF ARTILLERY UF1-723

UF is the specialized field of the Morris Swett Library. Here the ordnance and small arms area of LC's UF520-UF920 are dropped and shifted to the UL's.

UF23-UF25 is highly developed in order to serve the needs of the Field Artillery School and Center. This area is also heavily used for our archival collection. It may not be useful to other libraries, but suggests a variation for use in local history, etc.

UF26-UF124 of the schedule doesn't include Table I of LC's U Classification Military Science; so page 65 of that publication will be needed for "by country" classifications.

UF157 "Tactics, Maneuvers. Drill Regulations" is expanded and developed.

UF160 "Field Artillery Drill Regulations" assigns numbers for each gun, howitzer, mortar, model by size. This area is not often used but does include some obsolete field manuals. The UL section is preferred for current or recent models.

Other large areas:

UF380-UF385	Transportation
UF460	Tank Destroyers
UF490	Artillery Details
UF500-UF590	Atomic Artillery
UF600	Coast Artillery
UF670.1	Antiaircraft Artillery

UG MILITARY ENGINEERING UG1-700

UG1 - UG446.5 Follows the LC system exactly, until "Chemical Warfare: Gas and Glame." This subject is shifted to a new section: UK.

UG556 is Coast Defenses (LC uses UG448).

LC's UG570-575 "Military Signaling" shifts to UJ1-408.

LC's UG590 "Military Telegraphy and Telephony" shifts to UJ180.7.

UH MILITARY AERONAUTICS UH1-555

This section is used for the whole area that LC assigned to UG630-700 in their 1966 printing.

UH10.3	U. S. Air Force. Strategic Air Command (LC uses UG633).
UH15	Aeronautics, Military - History (LC uses UG630)
UH21-124	Organization in "Special Countries" is used with LC's Table I U Classification Military Science page 65.
UH160.3	Manual Pocket Books, Handbooks, tables, etc (LC uses UG633).
UH200.4	U. S. - Air Defenses (LC uses UG633).
UH210	Aeronautics, Military - Observation (LC uses UG633).
UH250	Bombardment Aviation (LC uses UG700, Miscellaneous).
UH352B6	Bombers (LC uses UG124B6).

UJ SIGNAL COMMUNICATION UJ1-408

This is a new system for signaling and takes in signal corps, military telephones, telegraphs, radio, radar and meteorology, etc.
(LC uses UG570-582, UG467).

UJ715 U. S. Army. Signal Corps - History (LC uses UG573).
 UF23.A1 Annual reports of the Chief Signal Officer.
 UJ24 - UF142 Military signaling by countries. MSL uses LC U Classification Military Science, Table I on page 65.
 UJ57 Gt. Brit. Army Signal Service (LC uses UG57).
 UJ180.2 Telephone Military Systems (LC uses UG590).
 UJ180.22 Telephone Military Switchboards (LC uses UG583).
 UJ190 Radio Military System (LC uses UG610).
 UJ195 Radar, Military (LC uses UG610).
 UJ400 Military Meteorology (LC uses UG467).

UK CHEMICAL AND BIOLOGICAL WARFARE UK1-260.5

This scheme replaces LC's UG447 - UG447.8

UK15 History of chemical and biological warfare (LC uses UG447).
 UK23 U. S. official publications.
 UK26-UK124 By countries use with LC's U Classification Military Science, Table I on page 65.
 UK173 Tactical use of smoke (LC uses UG447.7).
 UK225 Chemical warfare agents (Mustard) (LC uses RA1247M8 or UG447).

UL ORDNANCE AND GUNNERY UL1-604

This system replaces LC's UF560 - UF920.

UL1 Is used for ordnance periodicals (LC uses UF1).
 UL7 U. S. Ordnance Dept. Memoranda (LC uses UF7).
 UL23A2 U. S. Ordnance Dept. Annual Reports (LC uses UF23A2).
 UL145 Ordnance, general treatises (LC uses UF520).
 UL303 Gun handbooks are arranged by country and by size. "A" stands for American and "Y" for -mm, 5 stands for arrangement by inches. For example, UL303A4(37mm)A5 is the call number for an American handbook on 37-mm guns. UL303G75 (6in) is for a British handbook on 6-in guns.
 UL400.1 Uses a similar arrangement for ammunition. For example, UL400.1A4(20mm)U5 is a book on 20-mm American ammunition.
 UL505 Is used for artillery survey.
 UL509.2 Gunnery for antiaircraft (LC uses UF625).
 UL520 Ballistics (LC uses UF820).
 UL601 Range tables for field artillery are arranged by country and size of the gun. For example, the call number for an American 105-mm gun, firing table is UL601 A4(105mm) U5 1975.

UM MEDICAL AND SANITARY SERVICES UM1-430

This system replaces LC's UH201 - UH705.

UH1 Military medical periodicals (LC uses UH201).
UM150 Handbooks for medical personnel(LC uses UH201).
UM400 Military hygiene (LC uses RA615).
UM415 Mental hygiene, psychiatry, etc. (LC uses UH629.3).

Note: Many topics under MSL's UM or LC's UH201 - UH705 might fit well in LC's "R" schedule.

UZ "MINOR" SERVICES UZ100-610

This system replaces LC's UH20 - UH25, Chaplains. It takes in other miscellaneous subjects from "Use of animals in military service" to "Recreation Information Service". Many of the topics covered in this area, could be placed in other areas of the LC system. For example, the music section could fit in the "M's". Then, too, due to some of the long-term effects of the UZ, many could be developed to a far greater degree than here.

Classification scheme for Fort Sill Historical Section

U. S. Army Field Artillery School Library

NOTE: The overall number for Fort Sill history is UF 25, which locates it just after the U. S. Artillery number and preceding Artillery of other countries. The main sections are divided by using an alphabetical arrangement employing the full cutter number. This simplifies expansion as necessity presents. Some sections are necessarily subdivided, e.g., Buildings. This will be accomplished by following the Cutter number with A-Z by the simplified LC author table, e.g., Snow Hall will come under B932 S6, indicating that it is a building at Fort Sill with a name starting with Sn. General history of Fort Sill H673, will be followed by dates as nearly as can be determined, as will history divisions for Center and School.
