MAGNETIC-FIELD HAZARDS BIBLIOGRAPHY

1. The following bibliography was prepared in the interest of providing a source of references for those interested in the biological effects and the evaluation of hazards associated with magnetic fields. It was compiled from the open literature reviewed on a continuing basis by personnel of the Laser Microwave Division of this Agency.
2. This is the second published edition of "Magnetic-Fields Hazards Bibliography." The 364 references are divided into groups as shown in the Table of Contents.
