PROCEDURES FOR THE ADMINISTRATION OF THE DEFENSE
MANAGEMENT EDUCATION AND TRAINING PROGRAM

I. Operating Procedures of the Defense Management Education and Training Board (DMETB)

A. Establishment of an "Agenda Planning Committee"

1. This committee will consist of the Primary Functional Coordinators and a representative of each Military Department and the Joint Staff. Each Assistant Secretary of the Military Departments (M&RA) and the Director of Personnel (J-1) of the Joint Staff will designate one representative as a member of this committee of the DMETB. The Director, Education Programs and Management Training, OASD(M&RA) will serve as chairman.

2. The function of the Agenda Planning Committee will be to act as a working group for the DMETB, to provide a coordinating medium and to identify problems and issues that should be brought to the attention of the DMETB. When a problem or issue is identified, the Board will then either decide the issue or problem or will determine what further research may be needed, and will assign responsibility for such further work. Such assignments might be made to ad hoc teams, to one Department or OSD office, or, if appropriate, to the Agenda Planning Committee.

B. Role of Primary Functional Coordinators

1. In specific functional fields (Logistics, Comptroller-ship, R&D, etc.), it is recommended that the Primary Functional Coordinator, under the direction of his respective Assistant Secretary, establish such standing or ad hoc groups of Departmental counterparts as he considers necessary to reach agreement on questions involving course preparation, course review, validity of training requirements, equivalency policies, etc. The Primary Functional Coordinators will keep the Board informed of their actions.

2. When a Primary Functional Coordinator wishes to propose establishment of a new Defense course or when he encounters a problem which requires resolution by the Board, he will refer such matters to the Agenda Planning Committee for Board discussion.

3. The Primary Functional Coordinator will appoint Secondary Functional Coordinators, as required, to assist in the management of specified subject areas. The functions of the Secondary Functional Coordinator will be as specified by the appointing Primary Functional Coordinator.

II. Administration of Defense Management Courses

A. Establishment of a new Defense Management Course

1. Requests for the establishment of a new course may be generated by any DoD component or Primary Functional Coordinator.

2. Requests will contain:

- a. A general description
- b. Learning objectives
- c. Level to which the course should be aimed
- d. Estimated training requirements
- e. Suggested course length and frequency
- f. Required starting date

3. The Primary Functional Coordinator will:

a. Review for:

- (1) Applicability
- (2) Feasibility
- (3) Validity
- (4) Duplication of existing courses

b. Coordinate development of a Program of Instruction (POI) or curriculum outline for the course.

c. Add any appropriate comments.

d. Forward the request to the Chairman of the DMETB and make a recommendation for an appropriate Executive Agent.

4. If the DMETB approves the request, it will assign the course development to a Sponsoring Component.

5. The Sponsoring Component will assign the responsibility for the development of lesson plans to the school or institution under its command with competence in the subject area. During the development process, direct communication is authorized for coordination among the schools, the User Components and the appropriate Functional Coordinators. The plan for the course will include a validated estimate from the User Components of the projected requirements for the course and information on resources required for support.

6. When completed, the lesson plans, POI outline and any comments concerning non-coordination by interested DoD components will be submitted by the school to the Primary Functional Coordinator for review.

7. After resolution of any existing differences and approval by the Primary Functional Coordinators and the Sponsoring Component, the DMETB will be informed. If additional resources are required by the Sponsoring Component in order to present the course, the Primary Functional Coordinator will request required assistance from the DMETB.

8. The school will then proceed with the final programming of the course with the representatives from the User Components and the cognizant Primary Functional Coordinator. If on-site coordination is required, funding for travel and per diem will be supported by the parent commands of the participants.

9. Upon approval of the course program, course description and other pertinent data will be provided the DoD through the DMET catalog.

B. Disestablishment of an Existing Defense Management Course

1. When it is determined by a Sponsoring or User Component or a Primary Functional Coordinator that a course is not being utilized or is no longer required, a request to disestablish it will be submitted to the DMETB, through the Primary Functional Coordinator, giving the justification for the proposed action.

2. The Primary Functional Coordinator will coordinate the request with all User Components. Providing coordination has been completed, the Primary Functional Coordinator is authorized to approve the request and advise the DMETB of this action. If there is disagreement which cannot be resolved, the proposal will be submitted to the DMETB for resolution.

C. Procedures for Reviewing Programs of Instruction of Defense Management Courses

1. Reviews scheduled on annual basis: Each Sponsoring school will provide an annual schedule on a fiscal year basis to User Components and Primary Functional Coordinators for the review of Defense Management Courses. Sponsoring schools will schedule course reviews in coordination with Sponsoring Component and Primary Functional Coordinator. Only those courses which the Sponsoring Component or the Primary Functional Coordinator believes need review will be included in the schedule.

2. Reviews scheduled due to specific requests: Each Sponsoring school presenting a Defense Management Course will initiate a review of its POI or complete lesson plans if requested by a Primary Functional Coordinator or a User Component through the Primary Functional Coordinator and Sponsoring Component.

3. Procedures for conducting reviews:

a. Sponsoring schools will establish course reviews in coordination with the Sponsoring Component and Primary Functional Coordinator and will invite participation in the course reviews by User Components and Primary Functional Coordinators. If on-site coordination at the school is required, any funding for travel and per diem for participants will be provided by their parent commands.

b. As a result of the review, Primary Functional Coordinators, in collaboration with Sponsor Components, are authorized to approve minor revisions of course content for Defense Management Courses. Major revisions must be coordinated with User representatives and Sponsor Components and the DMETB advised.

III. Publication of the Defense Management Education and Training Catalog

A. The Defense Management Education and Training Catalog is the official source of information concerning courses of instruction offered in accordance with Department of Defense "Defense Management Education and Training Program." 2. Be loose-leaf to permit the insertion of change without disturbing the order of contents.

3. Be kept current by periodic changes. It will be reprinted and reissued only when the number of changes make it economically feasible.

C. As directed by the DMETB, a catalog committee will be established to administer the compilation and distribution of the catalog. The catalog committee will be under the chairmanship of DSA.

D. Each Sponsoring Component will provide information concerning its courses and schools in accordance with the policy for catalog content as established by the DMETB.
