AMERICA'S COMBAT LOGISTICS SUPPORT AGENCY

NAME CHANGE

DLA Troop Support Clothing & Textiles Directorate

2010 - Defense Supply Center Philadelphia renamed DLA Troop Support

Clothing & Textiles is a component of DLA Troop Support, a primary level field activity of the Defense Logistics Agency (DLA). In Fiscal Year 2010, C&T's sales of clothing, textiles and equipment to military personnel worldwide surpassed $2.1 billion. While buying more than 8,000 different items ranging from uniforms, footwear and undergarments to ecclesiastical items, individual equipment, flags and tents, C&T actually manages over 31,000 line items when individual sizes are factored into the item mix.

Green Ratings Cars

These Ratings can help you choose a car with fuel economy in mind. You can sort the ratings chart by any column by clicking on the header of the column. Consumer Reports fuel economy ratings are derived from a series of actual road tests, including city, highway, and country-road driving. Each car is driven by at least two engineers to account for variability in driving styles. By contrast, the EPA's widely advertised mileage estimates are obtained through a laboratory test involving a machine called a dynamometer where car wheels are moved at different speeds while the car is stationary. We believe our estimates, which tend to be lower than the EPA's, more accurately reflect the fuel economy each car will get in real life.

Includes technical and safety comparison data similar to consumer publications.
